Business listings

Businesses on CutQ are independent. Each business writes its own profile and sets its own services, prices, photos, opening hours, availability and cancellation policy, and is responsible for keeping them accurate. We do not employ the businesses or their staff, and we do not perform, supervise or guarantee the services they provide.

Where a business or person shows a verification badge, it means only that they completed the check described with the badge at the time it was granted. It is not an endorsement or a guarantee of the quality or safety of any service.

Reviews

Reviews and ratings on CutQ are written by customers after a booking. They reflect those customers' own experiences and opinions, which may not be representative of every customer, and do not reflect our views. Your experience may differ.

No professional advice

Nothing on CutQ is medical, health or professional advice. If you have a skin, hair, allergy or other health concern, ask a qualified professional before you book a treatment, and tell the business about it before your appointment.
